Celebration of 'World Environment day' at Gujarat Science City.

World Environment Day was celebrated at Gujarat Science City. An Expert talk on curbing plastic pollution was organized under the theme #BeatPlasticPollution as part of the World Environment Day celebration.

Experts said that How we can help the environment by using plastic that can be reused instead of single use plastic. Bharat Pathak, a former officer of the forest department, said that we use the things of the environment for ourselves and when that thing becomes useless, we throw it away.

Meanwhile, the people also took a pledge to use reusable plastic.

Along with this, snakebite prevention awareness program was also held in Gujarat Science City. In which people were informed about which snakes are poisonous and how to prevent snake bites. About 60 people from Jai Bhim Multicultural Trust participated in this program.

In addition, an exhibition of ecofriendly items was also held at the Noble Dome of Gujarat Science City. In which items like handbags made from paper and other plants, incense sticks made from cow urine and cow dung, disposable and biodegradable items, disease-relieving yoga diet with natural diet system, useful hair medicine and products are displayed in different stalls.

Many people visited the Exhibition and they appreciated the program organized by Gujarat Science City.
